Academic career

From 01/11/2014 to today	Associate Professor at the University of Cassino and Southern Lazio, for the scientific disciplinary sector ING-IND / 21 - Metallurgy.
From 01/03/2005 to 01/11/2014	University researcher at the University of Cassino and Southern Lazio, for the scientific disciplinary sector ING-IND / 21 - Metallurgy.

Teaching Activity

Date	Responsibility course
from 2021 to today	Mechanics of Materials and Structures (6 CFU Bachelor's Degree Course in Industrial Engineering)
from 2014 to 2021	Head of 3 CFU within the Metallurgy 2 course;
from 2007 to 2007	Legal Fractography (Course of the Doctoral School in Mechanical Engineering of the University of Cassino);
from 2007 to 2007	Metallographic Methods (Course of the Doctoral School in Mechanical Engineering of the University of Cassino);
from 2009 to today	Metallurgical and Metallographic Methods (9 CFU Master's Degree Course in Mechanical Engineering University of Cassino);
from 2008 to 2012	Laboratory of Metallurgy (4 CFU Degree Course in Mechanical Engineering University of Cassino);
from 2005 to 2009	Metallurgical and Metallographic Methods (4 CFU Degree Course in Mechanical Engineering University of Cassino).
to date	He is supervisor and co-supervisor of over 80 degree theses of an experimental and numerical nature;
to date	He has been tutor of a research doctorate on bacterial corrosion of stainless steels;
to date	He is tutor of a research doctorate on phase transformations in NiTi shape memory alloys.

He has also contributed, carrying out exercises and participating in the examination committees, of the following courses:

- Metallurgy 1
- Metallurgy 2

Management activities

- 2021 - ongoing President of the Course of Studies in Industrial Engineering (L-9)
